

Across Exmoor (West): Statement of Publishers and of Editorial Policy

Publishers

Across Exmoor (West) is published jointly by the PCCs of Exford, Exmoor, Hawkridge, and Withypool.

Editor

The Editor is appointed by the Benefice Priest and is endorsed by the PCCs.

Editorial Policy

Across Exmoor (West) will always have significant Christian content but its scope is broader than purely church matters. Our aim is to inform our readers on all aspects of life in our villages.

Subject to overall constraints of space, the Editor will consider any contributions of potential interest to our readers, always provided that the content is not political, scandalous, libellous or likely to be highly controversial. The Editor's decision on suitability of content is final.

The Editor reserves the right to edit content for length or suitability. Wherever required and possible within the publication schedule, such editing will be presented to the contributor for approval.

The Publishers and Editors assert that Contributors are responsible for ensuring that their content does not breach copyright, confidentiality, privacy or libel laws.

Disclaimer to be included in future issues

Items carried in Across Exmoor (West) do not necessarily represent the views of the PCCs, the Benefice Priest or the Editor. The Editor reserves the rights to decline to publish any item and to amend or shorten material. Contributors are responsible for ensuring compliance with copyright, confidentiality, privacy and libel laws.

1 January 2012